IT'S BACK TO SCHOOL AGAIN TODAY.—Saying goodbye to their pet dogs "Suzy" and "Inky" are the five Miller children of 220 N. Holding the dogs are, left, Walter, 12, who will be in the fifth grade at McKinley School, and Gene, 13, who will be in the seventh grade at Fourth St. Junior High. Petting the dog at rear is James, 9, who will enter the third grade at McKinley. In the rear is Allan, 11, a fifth grader at McKinley, and at right is Carol, 5, entering first grade at McKinley. Chest Campaign Goal Unchanged

$45,810 Objective Same As Last Year

Salem's Community Chest goal for the October campaign will be $45,810, the same as last year, it was decided at a meeting of directors of the Salem Community Fund Association last night.

The meeting, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, was presided over by A. G. Tame, chairman.

The directors felt that the needs of the 10 participating "red feather" agencies would be met by the same budget as last year. Budget hearings of these agencies will be held this week, it was explained by Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, Chamber secretary.

George Emery will be chairman of the Community Chest drive which will open with a "kickoff" dinner the evening of Oct. 11 at the Memorial Building. Walter Null is assistant chairman.

Rev. Harold Deitch, new pastor of the First Christian Church, will give the keynote address.

Milton Steiner will serve as chairman of industries for the campaign which will continue through the month of October.

Participating agencies include both hospitals, the Boy and Girl Salvation Army, Catholic Charities, Legion Quaker City Band, Home For Aged Ladies, Home Nursing Service, and the United Defense Fund.

Private Detective Called In Slaying

CLEVELAND (P)—Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan said yesterday a private investigator has been hired to find the killer of comely 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard.

He declined to name the detective or say how long he has been at work.

The victim's husband, Dr. Samuel Sheppard, a handsome 30-year-old osteopath, is awaiting trial on a first-degree murder charge.

In a second attempt to free him on bail from county jail, Corrigan said he would subpoena "about half a dozen" witnesses when the request is heard in court later this week.

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin set the trial hearing for Friday, but said he would postpone the hearing until Saturday if witnesses were brought in. No postponement has yet been made.

Pump Manufacture In Monterrey Beats High Tariff

Deming Plant In Mexico Begins Operations

Because of high tariffs in Mexico, the Deming Co. of Salem recently completed the construction of a new plant at Monterrey, Nueva Leon, Mexico, to compete with Mexican companies which manufacture pump equipment.

Located in a district bordered by the country's rapidly expanding industrial area, the new plant, named Deming de Mexico, S. A., is expected to maintain business the Deming Co. has conducted for many years, shipping its products from Salem.

The establishment within the last two years of high tariffs on the importation of complete vertical turbine pumps by the Mexican government necessitated Deming's establishment of a plant within that country, to produce products free of the tariff, thereby enabling the Salem firm to remain in competition with Mexican companies, President Walter Deming explains.

The new plant at Monterrey, containing 10,000 square feet of floor space, will be used for the assembling and testing of the pump parts that will be manufactured by Fundidores Nacionales, S. A., a Monterrey foundry. The partnership between the two companies is expected to produce vertical turbine pumps with capacities ranging from 100 gallons per minute to 2,400 gallons per minute.

While most of the pump parts will be manufactured in Monterrey, some items, such as stainless steel parts, will be shipped from the United States.

A grand opening of the plant was held Aug. 28, with representatives of the Mexican government; Walter Deming, president of the company; Walter A. Everett, export manager, and other interested Mexican leaders attending.

Peter Ferguson, formerly in the foreign department of the National City Bank of New York and now on the Deming Co.'s Salem staff, will leave Oct. 1 to assume charge of the new plant. Raul Morales is factory superintendent at Monterrey.

Four Salem Heights residents protested to the board the proposed shortening of the school bus route in that district. Attendance Officer Deane Phillips explained that several new stops had been added to the Benton Road school bus route, forcing a cut in the length of the route in Salem Heights so that the driver could get the children to school on time.

The bus formerly went to the last house in Salem Heights but it is now proposed to pick up the children on a hill about one-fourth of a mile from the last house.

Phillips said another reason for the change was that the bus often had trouble on the hill during winter.

In other action Samuel A. Schaefer was appointed assistant janitor, Mrs. Anne Risbeck was hired as secretary to Junior High and Miss Carol Morlan, secretary for the Taft Classes.

The contracts for school pupil transportation by school bus were renewed with Robert Groner and J. Edward Miller for the 1954-55 school term. Groner will receive $48 per day for his three busses and Miller $32 a day for two.

Pedestrian Injured When Hit By Car

An Ellsworth Ave. man was injured at 9:10 p.m. yesterday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Ronald Stokes, 25, of 382 S. Ellsworth in the 300-block of S. Ellsworth.

The victim, John Oana, 68, of 408 S. Ellsworth is reported in good condition in Central Clinic where he was taken. He sustained lacerations of the forehead.

According to Stokes, he was driving south when Oana ran from the curb into his vehicle.

A car driven by Wilson Corra, 35, of Leetonia was slightly damaged at 4:39 p.m. Tuesday when Corra, attempting to avoid another auto on N. Lincoln Ave., hit a telephone pole.

Water Level Good, Council Told By Hayes

In the shortest meeting of the summer, City Council last night ran through its routine in the record time of 35 minutes. One resolution was adopted and three other measures were given a second reading.

Reporting to Council on the city's water supply, Water Commissioner Aubrey Hayes pointed out that the city, while using over 55 and a half million gallons of water in August, is still safe from any water famine with the level of the reservoir down only 33 inches. A year ago at this time it was down seven feet.

With Councilmen William Stark and R. M. Linder absent, the remaining five Council members passed unanimously a resolution expressing gratitude to the Salem Lions Club for the fire ladder the local organization donated to the Fire Department.

In other Council action, an ordinance transferring money from one Water Department fund to another to prevent a deficit in any of the funds was given a second reading and referred to the finance committee. An ordinance forbidding parking on the south side of Cleveland St. from Hawley Ave. to Brooklyn Ave. was also given a second reading as was a resolution providing for the asphalt pavement of the first alley east of Lincoln between State and Pershing Streets. This action, if passed, would also provide for the assessment of property owners with land bordering the alley to pay the majority of the cost on a foot-frontage basis.

Councilman Arthur Hanna reporting for the street and lighting committee, stated that work on the widening and renovating of State St. was progressing as anticipated and that the contractors were "very pleased" with the cooperation they had received from the city.

According to Hayes, the reservoir, which has a maximum capacity of 680 million gallons, now contains approximately 620 million gallons. Hayes also stated that the average pumping rate per day in August was 1,793,000 gallons and that on Aug. 5 the month's high was reached when 2,179,000 gallons were pumped.

Cites President's Order Against Disclosing Talks

McCarthy Counsel Charges Army 'Gagged' Witness

WASHINGTON (P)—Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton refused today to testify at the McCarthy censure hearings concerning a conversation with Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. Sen. McCarthy's counsel accused the Army of "definitely gagging" the witness.

Lawton, in refusing to testify about the conversation, cited a presidential directive against disclosure of private conversations within the executive department of the government.

The retired general, a friend of McCarthy, said he was acting on advice he had obtained from "various counsel" at the Pentagon.

Edward Bennett Williams, McCarthy's chief counsel, declared that any such advice would be either incompetent or not in good faith.

Lawton said "I respectfully must refuse" to give testimony concerning any official conversations with Zwicker because of advice he said he had received yesterday that to do so would violate the controversial directive. President Eisenhower issued last May 17 forbidding witnesses at the McCarthy-Army hearings to testify what was said or done at a high level conference in the office of Atty. Gen. Brownell and attended by White House aides and others.

Covered All Talks

Eisenhower's order was not limited to that one conference, but covered all private consultations within the executive department.

One of the accusations against McCarthy is that he abused Zwicker at a closed door hearing on the subject of Communist infiltration of the Army.

Lawton's testimony was sought in connection with this charge.

Lawton, former commanding officer at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., retired Aug. 31.

Lawton's testimony would be intended to refute the accusation that McCarthy abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker in an appearance before McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee.

Edward Bennett Williams, McCarthy's attorney, said the Wisconsin senator probably will take the stand during the day. He said he thinks the inquiry can be completed this week. Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of a special six-man committee conducting the hearings, said, "It begins to look like it."

The committee was set up to study a censure resolution aimed

Columbiana

Main St. To Be Closed Tonight

Fair Concession Work To Begin At 6 P.M.

COLUMBIANA — Main St will be closed at 6 p.m. today from Railroad St. north to include the south half of the public square to permit concessions to set up for the opening of the annual street fair and home-coming tomorrow.

Members of Firestone American Legion Post, sponsor of the fair, are requested to be on hand to help set up the headquarters tent and other interests. Benches will be brought from the park and the post's own benches will be placed.

A detail of special police appointed from the post, who are obligated by the same oath taken by regular municipal police, will be on duty to handle traffic after the street is closed.

South-bound traffic will detour by way of S. Vine St., and north-bound by way of S. Elm St., with parking restricted to one side of both streets.

THE B-50 BOMBER, to be on display and open for inspection of its interior, will leave Dayton tomorrow morning, transported by two trailer trucks. It will be the most unusual sight at the fair, and is expected to be ready for the opening night.

The Ohio Truckers' association will have a display and will give drivers' tests.

A shuttle bus service will be maintained again this year between the public square and the parking lot in Firestone Park east of the bath house to afford visitors ample parking facilities away from the crowded streets in town. A sign on the square will indicate the bus terminal.

Columbiana High School Band will provide musical entertainment the first night, and there will be other musical organizations on hand, including a barbershop quartet, the remaining two nights.

Columbiana Parent - Teacher Organization will have a food benefit each day of the fair.

THE KIWANIS CLUB, which expended $995.63 in community benefactions the last 12 months, emphasizes that its booth during the fair is its only money - raising project.

During the 12-month period, the club spent for Junior and Senior High activities $298.13; clothing for needy $166; tonsil operations, $150; Salvation Army camp $128; children's glasses $93; groceries for needy $75; scouts $50; county welfare home $25.

After a cool spell of some days near season end, Firestone Park pool was closed Monday with admissions of 1,409 for Sunday and Monday, 591 Sunday and 818 Monday.

PARENTS AND FRIENDS of the Columbiana schools will have an opportunity to tour the High School building in connection with the first meeting of the Parent Teacher Organization for the school year on Thursday evening, Sept. 15.

Tours will begin at intervals between 7:30 and 8, permitting those in attendance to view the extensive redecorating and painting done during the summer. Teachers will be in their rooms to greet visitors.

After the tours, the refreshments will be served in the home economics room, and a concert by the High School Band will follow in the auditorium, preceding the meeting of the P.T.O.

METHODIST CHURCH choir members will have a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maurer of New Springfield Road at 6 p.m. tomorrow, to be followed by rehearsal. "Silver Sisters" will be revealed.

8 Nations Sign SEATO Treaty

Warns Reds Against New Asian Aggression

MANILA (AP) — Eight nations of the East and the West signed a collective security pact today which in effect warns the Communists against any further aggression in Southeast Asia.

It took just three days for the United States, France, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines to reach complete accord.

The treaty hangs a big "no trespassing" sign on small nations in the area. It binds the eight nations militarily and economically, and declares each party will meet the "common danger" of armed attack in the treaty area or against any member "in accordance with its constitutional processes."

Australia's Richard G. Casey was first to sign the historic document. He began affixing his signature to the various copies at 5:02 p.m. (4:02 a.m., EST).

The documents, about 12x18 inches, were bound in dark blue leather. The ministers signed with individual gold pens.

Casey was followed by France's Guy la Chambre, New Zealand's T. Clifton Webb and Pakistan's Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan.

The entire Philippine delegation then signed, led by Vice President Carlos P. Garcia, chairman of the conference.

The Philippine delegation, dressed in native tagalog shirts, was followed by Thailand's Prince Wan Waithayakon and Great Britain's Lord Reading.

John Foster Dulles, U.S. secretary of state, who sponsored the meeting, signed at 5:18 p.m.

Garcia banged his gavel and declared the conference closed at 5:22 p.m.

The "hands off" warning to the Communists defined the treaty area as "the general area of Southeast Asia, including also the entire territories of the Asian parties, and the general area of the Southwest Pacific, not including the Pacific area north of 2 degrees 30 minutes north latitude."

The last definition would extend the treaty just north of the northern tip of the Philippines, but short of Chinese Nationalist Formosa.

The treaty stipulated that other countries could join.

Mrs. Martha Williams of Maple St., who clerked for Morris for the past 12 years, will continue in Robinson's employ.

The company was founded in 1906 by Cal Helman and Joseph Bramley. Morris bought it three years later by the Columbian County later.

Crime Comics Banned

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The City Council has banned the sale or display of crime, horror and sex comics. Violators are subject to $20 fine.

More than seven million dollars in parking meter fees were collected in New York State communities in 1953.

STARTS FIRST ATOMIC POWER PLANT — President Eisenhower waves an electronic wand over a metal cabinet crammed full of electronic devices at his summer White House in Denver, Colorado. This action set in motion a power shovel at Shippingport, Pa., which broke ground at a 400-acre site 30 miles northwest of Pittsburgh where the first atomic power plant is being built.

O'Neill, GOP Candidates Plan 'Grass Roots' Caravan In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Make way for the "grass roots" caravan.

Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, Republican incumbent for a third term, and eight congressional candidates have lined up one of the most ambitious caravan routes of the November election campaign.

Starting next Friday, the caravan will tour all counties in the eight congressional districts for personal contacts with as many voters as possible.

"I firmly believe in meeting personally the man or woman who will cast a vote — telling him what I believe — and answering as many questions as he may care to ask," O'Neill said. "The congressional candidates who will share this 'campaign caravan' hold the same view. 'Together we will present to the voters both the state and national picture, emphasizing the need for vigorous leadership.'

Congressional candidates and their districts are: State Rep. John E. Henderson of Cambridge, 15th; A. D. Baumhart Jr., of Sandusky, 13th; Rep. Jackson E. Betts of Findlay, 8th; Rep. William M. McCulloch of Piqua, 4th; Leo Blackburn of Portsmouth, 6th; Rep. Oliver P. Bolton of Mentor, 11th; William E. Minshall Jr., of Rocky River, 23rd and Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Lyndhurst 22nd.

The caravan will spend at least two days in each congressional district. O'Neill said he planned to visit an average of 11 towns a day on the tour. It works like this:

An advance sound truck rolls through towns several minutes ahead of the caravan, announcing its approach. A station wagon equipped with loud speakers will carry the candidates to the center of towns on the route. It will stop near the town square, courthouse or downtown business district.

Candidates will make speeches and shake hands with as many people as possible before moving to the next town.

Theme of the tour, O'Neill said, will be the importance to President Eisenhower's program of electing Republican congressmen and candidates. Local issues also will be stressed by individual candidates.

O'Neill tried out the caravan campaign technique two years ago in young Bolton's district in northeastern Ohio. He credited the caravan with helping him pile up a half million margin in a total vote greater than received by any other Ohio attorney general.

So he expanded the caravan this year to include congressional districts covering a large portion of the state. Districts with large rural areas were selected for the caravan to visit. O'Neill explained that traffic, ordinances and other factors worked against caravan campaigning in metropolitan areas.

The "grass roots" caravan will tour the 15th District Sept. 10-11.

Boston Box 1776 To Collect For Steeple

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston post office today made available to the Old North Church the historically significant Box No. 1776 for the collection of funds to replace the hurricane-felled steeple.

All of the November levy is for the Army.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican headquarters here has announced that a statewide radio-TV network will carry the address of Vice President Nixon when he appears before the GOP state convention here Sept. 15. The program is scheduled for 8:30 p.m., EST.

The caravan will spend at least two days in each congressional district. O'Neill said he planned to visit an average of 11 towns a day on the tour. It works like this:

An advance sound truck rolls through towns several minutes ahead of the caravan, announcing its approach. A station wagon equipped with loud speakers will carry the candidates to the center of towns on the route. It will stop near the town square, courthouse or downtown business district.

Candidates will make speeches and shake hands with as many people as possible before moving to the next town.

Theme of the tour, O'Neill said, will be the importance to President Eisenhower's program of electing Republican congressmen and candidates. Local issues also will be stressed by individual candidates.

O'Neill tried out the caravan campaign technique two years ago in young Bolton's district in northeastern Ohio. He credited the caravan with helping him pile up a half million margin in a total vote greater than received by any other Ohio attorney general.

So he expanded the caravan this year to include congressional districts covering a large portion of the state. Districts with large rural areas were selected for the caravan to visit. O'Neill explained that traffic, ordinances and other factors worked against caravan campaigning in metropolitan areas.

The "grass roots" caravan will tour the 15th District Sept. 10-11.

The Annual Diagnosis

Labor Day belonged to labor, to people who work, hence included almost everybody.

Now that everybody has "enjoyed" Labor Day, it might be fitting to look back a moment and take note of the traditional speeches and statements about labor and employment conditions.

The U. S. Secretary of Labor, James P. Mitchell, backed for the cabinet "hot seat" by organized labor itself, after a predecessor had wearied of sitting on the sharp twin horns of a loyalty dilemma, came out asserting that the nation's economy under the present administration is in a "very healthy state." Labor is now "standing on its own feet." The Taft-Hartley Act has helped labor and must be regarded "objectively" in any future proposals to change it. So much for Mitchell.

His remarks were a red flag to George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor; to Dave Beck President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (A.F.L.), and various other organized labor chieftains. Meany said that it is not truly a "healthy" state "to have 3.5 million still unemployed, and another 1.5 million partially employed and on temporary lay-offs." In his view, the 7.5 billion tax reductions chiefly favored corporations and the Wealthy, and the nation's purchasing power is now way down.

Beck contended there is now "a serious recession" and a "very definitive unemployment problem," and said that if the workingman has made any recent gains, the administration gets no credit.

After such familiar and contradictory Labor Day appraisals, average citizens can look around and make their own judgment.

Back On Home Duty

With the annual national conventions of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Philadelphia and the American Legion at Washington now history, persons who did not attend these sessions might think about the issues threshed out and acted upon by both of these multi-million-member organizations of former service men.

Less press space was given to the annual meetings of the smaller special - field bodies of veterans—such as American Veterans of World War II, American Veterans Committee, the Catholic and Jewish and Greek War Veterans, and various other groups. Yet they have been just as intense, just as vocal and consecrated to the public welfare as the large organizations.

It is not necessary to agree with the resolutions of appeal, denunciation, protest, favor and policy voiced by these veterans' organizations (and a great many earnest, intelligent persons do not agree with some attitudes) to note the feverish ardor with which these policy stands are voiced. The veterans are trying to be active citizens, and the country needs more of these. All the veterans' organizations have day-by-day community service programs. They do not merely "hold meetings." They do not just "stand for" things. They do not limit their solicitude to their own members, as do hundreds of other well-meaning groups.

These veterans return to their homes from their district, State and National conventions re-stimulated and reclarified for exercising their citizenship. They preach active, virile, meaningful citizenship to others. Sometimes in groups or individually they jar their fellows, but a lot of basically fruitful citizens have to be jolted to make them function.

Politics Made Easy

A 190-page booklet on the realities of practical politics is being given this fall to every New York State public school teacher. The teachers may find the volume revealing.

The idealisms of political parties, the primary system, how candidates are chosen and even the vestigial futility of the electoral college are part of normal education.

The Empire State teachers also are being told some of the real facts of political life—not just lovely theory, but how things actually are done. Chances are that the "realities" of New York politics aren't described in the booklet, although it makes a pretense of pricking a few idealistic bubbles. For instance, in describing an election campaign, it says:

"It is a composite of strident declarations, showmanship, promises and perorations interspersed with solid argument, and founded on strenuous legwork in the voting precinct."

Even that comment keeps some gilt on the picture frame and doesn't rub any down off the peach. Come to think of it, maybe teachers shouldn't know too much of things symbolized by the "smoke-filled room," lost their illusions so corroded that they could not discuss book theories with their wards without putting tongue in cheek.

Teachers have to do that enough in dealing with other matters.

Most of the men who boast of being self-made are the ones who did the poorest job of it.

Senate Standards

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Will Precedents Be Ignored In McCarthy Case?

Sen. Watkins of Utah, chairman of the special committee of six which is considering the resolution to "censure" Sen. McCarthy, says frankly that the Senate makes up its own mind irrespective of "precedents."

What the public doesn't realize perhaps is that some of these "precedents" are very bad and constitute conduct unbecoming to the United States Senate itself.

For it will hardly be believed today but there were 28 U.S. senators who once voted to unseat the duly elected United States senator from Utah, Reed Smoot, because he was a high official of the Mormon church and because various senators didn't like the church's attitude toward polygamy.

Although the Constitution says "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States," a motion was made in the Senate on Jan. 27, 1904, to unseat Smoot.

He was not a polygamist himself and his church had already issued a manifesto banning plural marriages but nevertheless after a protracted investigation a Senate committee rendered on June 11, 1906, a majority report recommending that Smoot be unseated. On Feb. 19, 1907, the Senate itself voted 42 to 28 to permit him to retain his seat and 20 senators did not vote.

Smoot became one of the most respected members of the Senate, was re-elected several times, and for several years served as chairman of the all-powerful Finance Committee. Another Mormon — Sen. Watkins — is one of the most respected members of the Senate today.

IF THE SENATE, however, had the power in 1907 to expel a member because the senators of that day didn't like the Mormon church, another group of senators tomorrow can expel someone else because the Senate may not like the allegiance of a senator to the Catholic church or to some other church.

No court can restrain the Senate or the House from doing an improper act with respect to its members as each house is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members.

This makes it all the more important that U.S. senators should not be governed by the passions or hysteria of the hour and that they now should establish a set of "standards" and, in fairness, declare that the punishment for violating the new rules should not be imposed on any senator on an express fact or retroactive basis.

For there is hardly a single charge leveled against Sen. McCarthy which could not have been made the subject of a "censure" resolution against many other senators in the past.

Take the charge about the alleged FBI document to which McCarthy referred during the McCarthy-Stevens hearings but which he never made public. It contained data on personnel procedures rather than national security secrets.

Yet if the "standard" is that a

Dewey's Future

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, in deciding not to run again for the governorship of New York, has left the door wide open to bid for the presidency in the United States Senate in 1956.

In a televised broadcast to the people of New York last night he said the time had come for him to return to private life and he will not be a candidate for any public office "this fall."

He did not say (1) he had given up all political ambitions or (2) that he was retiring to private life for keeps or (3) that he would not accept appointment to high public office, perhaps by President Eisenhower.

There has long been speculation here that he might succeed Secretary of State Dulles if the latter ever retired. This would require appointment by Eisenhower, who received a big assist from Dewey in getting the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

The six-year Senate term of Herbert H. Lehman, 76-year-old Democrat and former New York governor, ends in 1956. If Dewey has abandoned hope for the presidency, he might shoot for Lehman's job two years from now.

Dewey is a two-time loser as a Republican nominee for president. He lost to President Roosevelt in 1944 and President Truman in 1948. In the next campaign, 1952, he worked for Eisenhower.

Two presidential defeats by the Democrats might seem enough to cool off Dewey. But they may have only aggravated his ambition. If Eisenhower does not seek re-election in 1956, Dewey may try again, if the Republicans let him.

They might not let him. The two defeats rankled with some members of his own party. Not so much the 1944, war-year trimming by Roosevelt, but the 1948 beating by Truman.

That year Dewey looked, to the political experts at least, like a sure winner until the ballots were counted. Later he was accused of having been so overconfident of victory that he coasted in the campaign instead of making it all

"What Pretty Teeth You Have!"

Being Too Naive

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Charles P. Taft is president of the Committee for a National Trade Policy, Inc. which is an innocent enough name. All sorts of persons are interested in a National Trade Policy, from those who believe in a high tariff to those who favor free trade, and all stops in between. This is coming in more or less for free trade in the free world.

So Mr. Taft objects to an article I wrote some time back and notified one of my editors to that effect. The editor kindly sent me Taft's letter which contains, among other items of complaint, the following:

"One of the most alive and harmful remnants of capitalism in the consciousness of the people are religious prejudices. These prejudices to this day poison the mind (sozaniye) and happiness of our people and hinder them in taking an active part in the construction of Communism . . ."

". . . some party, Komsomol, trade union, and other organizations, called upon to carry out educational work among the masses, for some reason understand for 'freedom of conscience' only the points of view, forgetting that it is their duty to educate the workers and to develop scientific-atheistic propaganda."

Further, the Pravda article says:

"The consistent implementation of measures which provide for a further rise in the cultural level of the workers, the extensive dissemination of natural scientific knowledge, the demonstration of people's possibilities and prerequisites have been created for the complete overcoming of all remnants of capitalism in the consciousness of the people, including religious prejudices and superstitions."

Charles P. Taft may be sentimentally attuned to the concept that scientific atheism has been recently.

"To label such strong supporters of the Church as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania as 'atheistic' is completely at variance with the known facts.

One of the most potent forces in the fight against Communism in those countries seek to submerge the Church, it is quite evident that the effort has not succeeded, as was so clearly demonstrated in the great Church gathering recently in East Germany.

"To label such strong supporters of the Church as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania as 'atheistic' is completely at variance with the known facts.

But Dewey's critics and enemies could never deny he had been a popular governor of New York and that he was a true political hero.

In his announcement last night he listed some of the achievements of his 12-year administration. It was a long and impressive list. The confidence of the New York voters in his ability was illustrated by the three terms they gave him.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

It's not the power drive inside the sleek 1955 models which is disturbing the planners of your new cars these days. The Detroit auto people are concerned rather with a new power drive inside labor which may result in a 1957-vintage strike in '55 which could keep the beautiful car bodies paralyzed assembly lines for months.

The time is now to report the background story of a possible 1955 strike which may tie up the "Big Three" of the automobile industry. Labor Day may have been the end of the holiday season to you, but to those inside labor it's the beginning of a new year and the time to get busy on plans for new drives which will shake the country.

One of these has been shaped up inside Walter Reuther's Auto Workers Union headquarters. There are those who say this will be the red head's "make-or-break" year, not only for himself, but for CIO as well. Maybe. However, one thing is certain: the Detroit dynamo now faces the most powerful opponents he has ever taken on—both inside and outside labor.

THERE IS, first of all, virtually all of American industry. Reuther challenges the nation's industrialism by planning to spend the full 20 million dollars (of which 16 million and more are in liquid assets) of his Auto Union's funds if necessary to force General Motors, Ford and Chrysler to grant a guaranteed annual wage.

Reuther knows too that if this split doesn't occur, Dave McDonald, in sharp disagreement with many of Reuther's militant policies, plans to go to the CIO convention in Los Angeles in December and propose that per capita dues paid by the unions into the CIO's central treasury be cut from a dime per man to a nickel.

That would slash the CIO's national income in half and throw the financial burden of supporting CIO directly on Reuther's Auto Workers Union—which can't quite carry the load.

Reuther is therefore aware that he must prove his leadership in this fight with the Dave McDonald-John Lewis combine in 1955. He can't prove leadership by winning higher wages. At most he could get just about what the Steelworkers and the rest of American labor got early this summer—somewhere between five and 10 cents an hour more. That wouldn't startle anyone.

Or he could get a better break for his people on pensions—but not really too much better.

THAT WOULD hardly be social pioneering. There is margin for victory only in the field of a guaranteed annual wage, even if winning it exhausts the big strike fund—which stood at $6 million dollars last June—and depletes the regular union treasury. Such a victory would be worth it. Reuther would overshadow anything even John Lewis ever won for the miners. Such a victory would make a still greater international figure of the young Detroit dynamo. It would revitalize CIO, even with McDonald outside.

But no bubbling welcome awaits Reuther when he approaches the auto industry in a few months.

The union's contracts with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will all have expired by the morning of June 1, 1955.

Even now, less than nine months before these expirations, leaders of other American industries are emphatically urging the auto executives to take on Walter Reuther in a showdown fight. They probably will.

OSU Approves Building Project

Giant $2,500,000 Job Is Mapped

PUT-IN-BAY, Ohio (AP)—Trustees of Ohio State University yesterday approved a giant building program. It features a $2,500,000 campus auditorium, five 11-story dormitories, a new research lab, television station and classroom buildings.

The television station and lab are estimated to cost $200,000 each. The board approved bids totaling $482,778 for construction of the chemical abstracts building. Dormitory costs were not announced.

The board, meeting at nearby Gibraltar Island, said bids for the limestone auditorium will be advertised early in October. It will seat 3,200 and be named for the late Ralph D. Mershon, electrical engineer who died Feb. 14, 1952. He left more than seven million dollars to the university.

The auditorium was designed by university architect Howard Dwight Smith and Bellman, Gillette & Richards of Toledo, designers of the Ohio Union, student center on campus.

Trustees voted to name the arena section of the field house, now under construction, in honor of the late L. W. St. John former university athletic director.

The trustees said plans will be ready in two months for the 11-story women's dormitory to house 325 coeds. They ordered plans drawn up immediately for four similar men's dorms, all to be located on W. 11th Ave. in Columbus. They will house 1,300 to 1,500 men students.

The board said the new WOSU-TV ultra-high frequency station will be located on North Star Rd.

The antenna research laboratory will be one of the most complete in the nation engaging in research of radio, radar and television for industry and government, the board said.

Contracts will be awarded, the board said, on both the lab and television station possibly sometime in November.

All dormitory construction will be financed by revenue bonds which are to be self-liquidating, the board said.

The group also accepted 15 research contracts totaling $519,516. Ten of the contracts are from the federal government, five from private industry.

4-H Club News

Try, Try Again

Mrs. Elsie Zimmerman of Leetonia RD 1, first advisor of the Try Try Again 4-H Club, told 65 parents and members about the club's organization 25 years ago at the final meeting last week at the St. Jacob's Church.

The occasion was the annual achievement program. Reports were given by Carol Kelm, health and safety; Kathryn Bailey, community service; Hazel Bartholow, float; Ella Mae Kelm, fair exhibit and Jacqueline Hippolyte, club activities.

Kathryn Bailey and Leila Shad presented their prize-winning demonstration on how to make a nutritious sandwich. Others showed and described their projects to parents and friends.

After a get-acquainted period, lunch was served by a committee headed by Connie McMillen.

Ella Mae Kelm, vice-president, presided at the business session and gave the welcome. Roll call was answered by telling "what I enjoyed most about the County Fair."

11-Headed Sunflower Grown By Girl, 10

LISBON — Morning is undoubtedly a frustrating time of day for an 11-foot sunflower which has preferred not to follow the conventional pattern of others in a row at the Raymond Glausser home on the Columbian-Lisbon Rd.

While his heavy-headed mates face the rising sun with ease, this one, with 11 heads, looks in all directions.

The sunflower, which its grower, Leslie Glausser, 10, says will be "for the birds," has gone all out in production of both blooms and stalk. The flowers range from several inches across to "as large as a dinner plate."

Leslie grew the sunflowers as part of her 4-H gardening project.

Before the 16th Century, sugar usually was used more as a medicine than a food.

Snooping In World's Icebox

Slashing from the west through the ice cap which sits atop the world, the U. S. Navy icebreaker Burton Island made an extensive survey of the northland this summer. The Navy was making a study of the ice breakup in the Bering Sea and Bering Straits of the far north. Scientists accompanied the expedition to collect sea water and ice for further tests and analysis. Another icebreaker, the Coast Guard's Northwind, cut through from the east to cross the path and thus make the two ships first to complete the passage of McClure Strait. It was a joint Canadian-U. S. project.

The scrimmage session will take the place of an out-of-town preview and give Salem residents a chance to see the Quakers in action before the season opener Sept. 17 with the Conneaut Trojans.

It will give Coach Barrett and his assistants Karl Zellers, Sam Priddy, John Cabas and Vince Crawford a chance to see the boys in the nearest thing to game conditions as possible before the final week of pre-season practice.

The coaches of both squads will be out on the playing field during the scrimmage to observe their boys first hand.

The public is invited to the scrimmage at the stadium and there will be no admission charged although donations will be accepted at the gate to help defray the traveling expenses of the visiting team and the cost of the electricity.

Last Saturday the Canton Central Catholic Crusaders defeated the Bartrammen in a scrimmage in Canton. The Central grididers got two touchdowns while holding the Quakers scoreless. Salem made a Labor Day ushered in the first day of fall and along with it a sudden increase in activity by the finny tribe. Fishermen putting in at the Maple Landing, Guilford Lake, had some nice stringers to show for their efforts. Ralph Forke of Massillon landed 26 perch from 6 to 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Two Akron fishermen caught 74 bluegills from 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 7 inches. John Rupp and grandson, who live near Lisbon, brought in a mixed stringer of 54 perch and bluegills up to 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Fishing should improve right along up until ice sets in. There are some lunker bass still in the lake as was proven by the Division of Wildlife netting operators last spring.

ALL GAME PROTECTORS now have application blanks for permit to import certain species of live wild animals from out of state. This new regulation, established by the Wildlife Council, does not intend to prohibit the importation of animals except in those cases where such importation would be dangerous to the welfare of our native stock. Any club, other organization or individual that intends to import wild animals, including fish, should contact the nearest game protector for full information regarding the requirements before plans are made. The person actually transporting live animals must have the permit in possession, after all the requirements have been met.

The new 1954-55 hunting licenses are now available at all license agencies. The old licenses expired Sept. 1. Squirrel season will begin Sept. 15 and continue through Oct. 15, the same as last year. The squirrel population seems to be about the same as last year, although the animals will have to be hunted, as you just don't find them anywhere in the woods. Mast cutting of hickory, acorns and beech leave the tell-tale marks when you get into the proper territory.

THERE IS A NEW little gadget on the market called "squaky" that when properly used greatly resembles a "squeaking" squirrel. Yankees Start Big Road Trip

11-Game Tour Could
Finish New Yorkers

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The world champion New York Yankees go West today. Barring miracles, they will be ex-champs by the time they get home.

Not since the last century has a band of Yankees headed into Indian territory with such a faint chance of survival.

The Yankees play 11 of their remaining 17 games on this tour of Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Philadelphia. They now trail Cleveland by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ lengths.

While the Yankee covered wagon grinds around the circuit for the last time, the Indians will be happily ensconced in their wigwam on the banks of the sky blue waters, clipping off their foes one by one.

The big battle, which might go down in history as Casey's Last Stand, is set for Sunday when the Yankee caravan reaches Cleveland for a double-header.

The Yankees can be eliminated positively until after that engagement.

Manager Stengel is gambling right at the start with Tommy Byrne tonight in Baltimore, which according to American League geography is West.

A wild man in his previous stints in the majors, Byrne was bought from Seattle last week in a desperation move. Tonight is his first start.

While the Cleveland Tribe stays home, that other bunch of wild Indians, the Milwaukee Braves, heads East in a lightning foray after the National League title.

The best road club in either league, the Braves open their 12-game tour in Pittsburgh trailing the league-leading New York Giants by 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ games with 19 to play.

The trip includes Friday and Saturday games against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who are in third place and still are trying to find out how it happened, and a three-game set next week in the Polo Grounds starting Tuesday night.

The Giants picked up an important half game last night in an 11-inning thriller at Philadelphia, where they shaded the Phillies 3-1.

Only one other game was played in the majors. Washington edged Philadelphia 5-4 before a gathering of 460 fans, the smallest crowd

All members who had earlier volunteered special services should attend in order to learn when their particular phase of construction will begin.

Henry Spear, membership committee chairman, requests that outstanding 1954-55 membership cards be turned in on or before the meeting. Unsold cards are also to be turned in.

Mullins Protest Of Loss To Grange Upheld; Red Caps, Electric Furnace Win Tilts

City softball director Ward Zeller ruled today that a protest registered last night by Mullins in their contest with Butler Grange was a valid one and that the game will be re-played tonight at 9 starting in the seventh inning when the protest was made. Mullins has a 3-0 lead going into the seventh.

Butler Grange had been declared the winner 6-5. The Electric Furnace defeated Parkers 10-6 in Class A and the Red Caps trounced the Amvets 10-2 in the lone girls contest.

Mullins got two runs in the first inning on a walk, an error, and an infield out. In the third Vogelhuber walked in a run after Hall doubled to give Mullins a 3-0 lead.

Butler got two runs in the last of the sixth as Joe Vogelhuber hit a home run with one more on to cut Mullins lead to one run. Mullins came up with two in the seventh as Milliken and Crawford.

The Amvets avoided a shut out in the fourth on Proven's hit scoring Reeder, who had walked. A home run by Slaby accounted for the other Amvets run.

Tonight the Old Timers meet the Electric Furnace at 6:30, the Red Caps again meet the Amvets at 7:45.

Tribe's Chances Of Pennant High

Indians Can Clinch It With 13 Victories

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coming to the World Series?

True, the Cleveland Indians haven't won the pennant yet. Nor can they personally make it mathematically certain in their doubleheader with the New York Yankees next Sunday.

The winners got three in the second on a walk, an error, and three successive hits. Five more came in the third on three walks, three Amvet errors and four more hits. The Amvets had a total of seven errors for the night.

McKenna's home run made it 10 for the Red Caps and their tenth run came in the seventh on hits by Milliken and Crawford.

The Amvets avoided a shut out in the fourth on Proven's hit scoring Reeder, who had walked. A home run by Slaby accounted for the other Amvets run.

Tonight the Old Timers meet the Electric Furnace at 6:30, the Red Caps again meet the Amvets at 7:45.

Questions, Answers

Q — How can you tell how far away a storm is by watching for the jagged streak of lightning?

A — Count off the seconds until the thunder reaches you. Thunder travels one mile in five seconds, so if it takes 15 seconds, you know the storm is three miles away.

Q — When is the penultimate day of the month?

A — The next to the last day.

Merchants and residents in Nassau, a Bahamas resort city of 20,000, boarded up and moved out of exposed areas as the storm approached.

A Navy hurricane hunter near the eye of the storm reported a ship "fighting extreme seas" but said it could not make out the ship's name in the wild, wind-tossed ocean which at times broke completely over the vessel's decks.

165 New Cases Of Polio Reported

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state health department today reported 165 new cases of polio in Ohio for the week ended Sept. 4. This raises the year's total to 962.

Montgomery County recorded five new cases and Richland County one during this period, the department said. This brings the Montgomery total to 51 cases for the year and Richland to 13. The two counties took part in the recent nation-wide Salk vaccine tests.

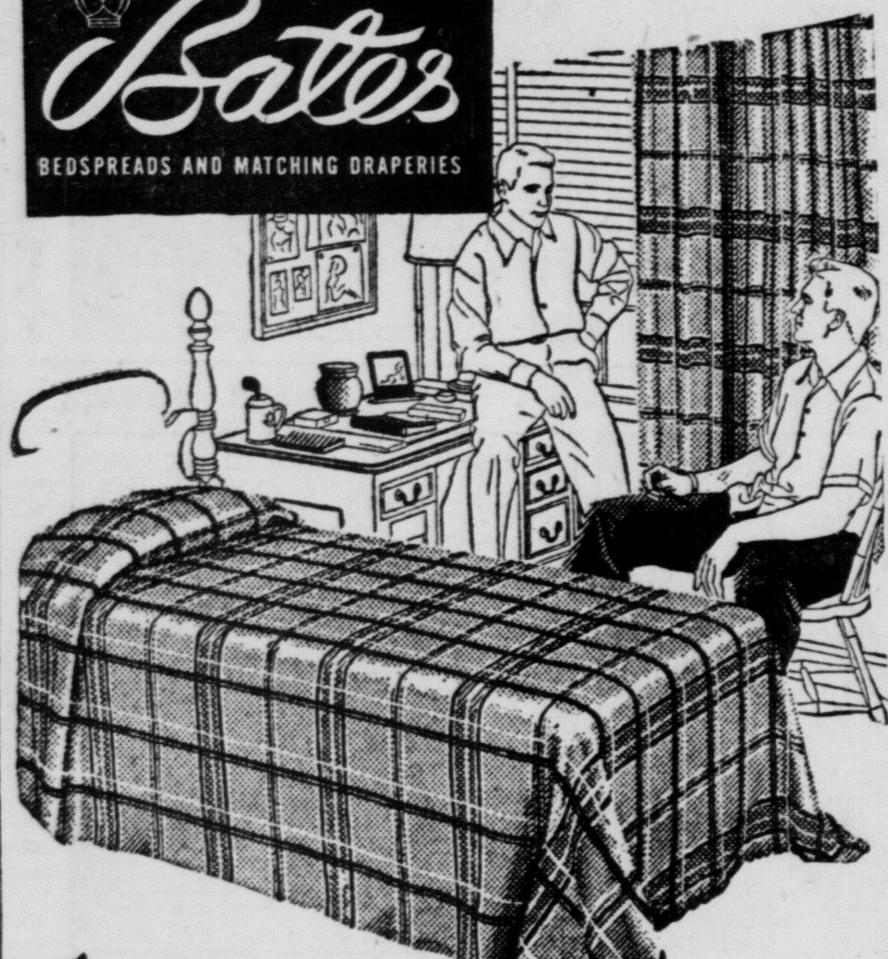

The test included injections to two groups of children. One group got the new vaccine and the other a control fluid. Results of the test will not be known until later this year.

If Eisenhower does try again, some thought Dewey might run in 1956 for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-N.Y.).

In Denver, where he is summering, Eisenhower expressed regret obviously shared by many Republicans who felt that the New York prizes in this year's battle for control of Congress may have receded somewhat with Dewey's name off the ballot.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore have received word their son Joe has been promoted to corporal in Korea. He was elected one of five from his group in Korea to attend the Chaplain's Conference in Seoul.

When Zwicker said he did not think so, McCarthy replied:

"Then, General, you should be removed from any command. Any man who has been given the honor of being promoted to general, and who says 'I will protect another general who protected Communists' is not fit to wear that uniform, general."

At another point McCarthy told Zwicker:

"Either your honesty or your intelligence, I can't help impugning one or the other."

The questioning of Zwicker was generally regarded as the spark that set off the McCarthy-Army hearings, at which Lawton's name frequently was mentioned. He did not testify at those hearings.

Woolson Seeks Control of Ohio Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Florida tycoon Louis E. Woolson, fighting for control of Montgomery Ward and Co., yesterday moved to acquire the Marion Power and Shovel Co. at Marion, Ohio.

His New York firm, Merritt-Chapman & Scott, filed a registered statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission proposing a $4 million dollar stock exchange. It would give the Woolson group control of the Ohio construction machinery manufacturing firm.

The Woolson group asked SEC approval on issuance of 448,868 shares of $12.50 par common stock to be offered in exchange for the outstanding 276,815 shares of the Marion company.

The exchange would offer three shares of Merritt-Chapman for each two shares of Marion.

Woolson's interests also proposed a similar exchange to a subsidiary of Marion, the Osgood Co. This exchange would be on the basis of two shares of Merritt-Chapman for three of Osgood.

The Woolson organization told SEC officials the acquisition would benefit stockholders of all three concerns.

Woolson has announced plans to seek control of Montgomery Ward and Co. at the April, 1955, annual meeting of the big mail order house. Ward's board chairman, Sewell Avery, 80, indicated he will fight the move.

at McCarthy by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), along with 46 specific and partially overlapping accusations offered in support of the resolution by Flanders and Senators Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind.-Ore).

After it completes its work, the plan is to reconvene the Senate to determine whether McCarthy should be censured.

The committee wound up its own evidence by hearing testimony yesterday from New York columnist Walter Winchell, who appeared under subpoena.

Winchell said he didn't know who gave him what he believed to be a copy of a cut-down version of an FBI espionage report during the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Flanders had said McCarthy and anybody else who circulated it may have violated the espionage laws.

"I am pretty sure it was not Sen. McCarthy," Winchell said. Asked whether he had received it from any member of the senator's staff, Winchell said, "I don't think so." He said the paper was slipped to him by a man at whom he "didn't take a very good look."
